

Texas Section Society for Range Management

Publication Awards

The purpose of this award is to recognize literary and scholarly efforts in publicizing range management practices, philosophies and research activities.

No more than one award should be presented in each of the following categories annually to recognize excellence within each of the following categories. However, in case of tie votes, the committee has the discretion of either awarding duplicate awards or resolving the tie by a means agreeable to a majority of the committee.

- 1 Technical Writing: articles directed primarily towards fellow scientists which advance the knowledge of range management/science in Texas;
 - 2 Popular Article: articles directed primarily towards range managers, landowners, or the general public (e.g., fact sheets, news articles);
 - 3 Special Category: contributions that do not fit appropriately in either (a) or (b) (e.g., book chapter, poetry, editorial).
- ◆ Nominations shall have been published within two (2) calendar years of the year for which they are being submitted.
 - ◆ Nominations should be collected no later than sixty (60) days prior to the Annual Meeting and sent to all committee members for review and ranking.
 - ◆ Nomination will consist of a copy of the publication, with cover letter.

NOTES:

- ◆ TSSRM membership is a requirement for eligibility in the "Technical Writing" and "Popular Article" categories. If multiple authors, then at least one author shall be a TSSRM member.
- ◆ TSSRM membership is not a prerequisite for submission in the "Special Category."
- ◆ If a submission for a category is received from a person (author or co-author) currently serving on the Committee, he/she should abstain from voting for that category.
